

Arnett's Australia is committed to the sourcing of cage-free eggs for all Arnett's biscuits made in Australia. Our egg products for our biscuits are sourced from a supplier that has committed to:

- Full compliance with the standards set out in the Model Code of Practice for the Welfare of Animals and all State and Territory laws and regulations in Australia.
- Independent audits of its operations under the Egg Corp Assured quality assurance system.

The percentage of cage-free eggs Arnett's Australia uses in its biscuits is increasing each year as our egg supplier builds the infrastructure required to meet the increased demand for cage-free eggs. Arnett's Australia has commenced using 100 per cent cage-free eggs in all biscuits made at our Marleston bakery in South Australia, and Virginia bakery in Queensland.

This year we will increase the use of cage-free eggs to include our Huntingwood bakery in New South Wales. We estimate that by August 2017, all Arnett's biscuits made in Australia will be made using cage-free eggs.
